

Whose POV will it be in?

What does your villain want that the hero also wants?

What plan does your villain already have in the works?

Will the encounter be face to face?

Who else will be there?

Where will the meeting take place?

What happened in the previous scene that led to the current situation?

Who will make the first move, and what will it be?

How will the villain win?